

ROMANIA HIT BY EARTHQUAKE

Business Buildings, Homes Damaged; No Lives Believed Lost

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 22.—A violent 30-second earthquake damaged business buildings and homes today in Bucharest and oil field works in Northern Rumania. There were no reports of any loss of life.

Hours after the shock was first felt at 8:30 a.m. (12:30 a.m. CST), thousands of persons in Bucharest jammed the streets, still fearful to return to their homes, despite radio assurances.

The tremor, which had its center in the Carpathian mountains about 50 miles north of Bucharest, was reported to have cracked buildings in residence and business districts. The Bucharest Meteorological Institute reported it as a "seventi class" earthquake.

First reports indicated the severest damage was caused at the town of Buzau, in the oil fields north of Bucharest.

A rumor spread that a mountain near Brasov collapsed. There was no confirmation of this.

Windows in homes and shops were shattered. The roofing was shaken loose from some houses, and many balconies were damaged.

In some sections, telephone and electricity services were interrupted. Buildings wavered for some minutes in Bucharest; pictures were knocked down, and many persons were rolled out of their beds.

Eastern island is a tiny, desolate bit of land some 2,000 miles west of South America.

TEN BRAZEN SKUNKS RATTLE PANS WHEN FOOD ISN'T ENOUGH

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. M. Roberts, Jr., wants to know how to get rid of 10 skunks that live under her house.

"We've been feeding them regularly and they've actually got so brazen they rattle the pans when they want more food," she asserted.

She described how the skunks, which romp and play on the lawn after dark, had disrupted the family routine.

"My son came home the other night and had to park his car in the driveway because there were six skunks in the garage."

Mrs. Roberts said she appealed to the state department of conservation for help in getting rid of the animals, but no suggestions were forthcoming.

DELEGATES HERE HAVE BOAT RIDE

(Continued from First Page)

herculean work being done by volunteer workers were held, followed by summation by Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director, National Tuberculosis Association, New York City. Mrs. Wilson will preside.

Miss Leslie C. Foster, Richmond, Va., presided at a luncheon of state executive secretaries at 1 p. m. in the Frances hotel. Other luncheons were the local workers luncheon in Frances hotel with Dr. Arthur H. German, Oklahoma City, Okla., presiding, and the physicians luncheon in the Virginia hotel with Dr. Paul A. Turner, Louisville, Ky., presiding.

A general session at 8 p. m. in the crystal ball room will close Tuesday's program.

Speakers will be Dr. Henry Boswell, superintendent, Mississippi State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Sanatorium, Miss. "Evaluation of a Surgical Unit in the Sanatorium," Dr. W. H. Perkins, professor of Preventive Medicine, Tulane University, New Orleans "Types of Tuberculosis Infection as a Measure of Epidemicity," Dr. Bruce R. Douglas, controller of tuberculosis, Herman Kiefer hospital, Detroit, Mich. "A Critical Analysis of the Tuberculosis Program," and Dr. W. P. Dearing, surgeon, U. S. P. H. S., Montgomery, Ala. "Demonstration of Fluoroscopic X-ray," Dr. P. P. McCain, president of the National Tuberculosis Association, Sanatorium, N. C., will preside.

The Louisiana Tuberculosis Association met Monday in connection with the conference, with a seal sale meeting held at noon and a luncheon at 1 p. m.

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

RECIPE TO KEEP GIRLS FROM JAIL

(Continued from First Page)

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

HIT DOCKYARDS, SHIPS OF NAZIS

(Continued from First Page)

down, when the British cruiser "entering within range of action, of naval coast defense batteries was quickly caught in effective fire."

The communique said the cruiser, badly hit, was "forced to retreat slowly" and was later seen stopped off the coast in "in serious difficulties while other English warships hastened to her aid."

Low-lying fog over London and "ceiling zero" mist over German bomber bases across the channel hampered overnight raiding forays, but Nazi warplanes resumed the attack on London shortly after noon today.

From the high chalk cliffs of Dover and German emplacements in France, long-range guns thundered in a duel, hurling shell after shell across the narrow strait.

Despite the murky weather, the London air ministry reported RAF bombers violently bombed Germany's big naval dockyard at Hamburg starting many new fires in the port which has been a major target of attack by British airmen.

Another RAF raid attacked a German convoy off the French coast, the air ministry said, disabling at least one vessel. Other squadrons bombed wharves, warehouses and a ship at German-held Boulogne.

Still other objectives hit included a synthetic oil plant at Reisholz, a railroad yard at Dusseldorf, an airfield at Stade "and various industrial objectives."

London had one of its quietest nights in six weeks, although the German reported they might raiders had bombed the empire capital again, attacking Birmingham and Coventry, and started "exceptionally large fires at Liverpool."

Britain's 4,000,000 slept through a night without alarm, but Nazi officials sped preparations to remove children from the German capital. German railways planned to run 15 special trains between noon and October 21 to take children from Berlin to safer areas, especially eastern Germany.

Today's "invasion weather" Seas calm in Strait of Dover; week-long mist began to lift under bright sun.

Last night, Prime Minister Winston Churchill broadcast an appeal to France: "If you cannot help us at least you will not hinder us in beating the life out of Hitler."

Churchill argued Britain intended to share her expected victory over Germany with France, while Germany sought to overthrow the French nation.

Tokyo diplomatic circles gave credence to a report that negotiations would be conducted between Japan and Soviet Russia to supplement the Japanese-German-Italian alliance would be based upon a plan to partition the northwest territories of China to create buffer states between them.

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

HIT DOCKYARDS, SHIPS OF NAZIS

(Continued from First Page)

down, when the British cruiser "entering within range of action, of naval coast defense batteries was quickly caught in effective fire."

The communique said the cruiser, badly hit, was "forced to retreat slowly" and was later seen stopped off the coast in "in serious difficulties while other English warships hastened to her aid."

Low-lying fog over London and "ceiling zero" mist over German bomber bases across the channel hampered overnight raiding forays, but Nazi warplanes resumed the attack on London shortly after noon today.

From the high chalk cliffs of Dover and German emplacements in France, long-range guns thundered in a duel, hurling shell after shell across the narrow strait.

Despite the murky weather, the London air ministry reported RAF bombers violently bombed Germany's big naval dockyard at Hamburg starting many new fires in the port which has been a major target of attack by British airmen.

Another RAF raid attacked a German convoy off the French coast, the air ministry said, disabling at least one vessel. Other squadrons bombed wharves, warehouses and a ship at German-held Boulogne.

Still other objectives hit included a synthetic oil plant at Reisholz, a railroad yard at Dusseldorf, an airfield at Stade "and various industrial objectives."

London had one of its quietest nights in six weeks, although the German reported they might raiders had bombed the empire capital again, attacking Birmingham and Coventry, and started "exceptionally large fires at Liverpool."

Britain's 4,000,000 slept through a night without alarm, but Nazi officials sped preparations to remove children from the German capital. German railways planned to run 15 special trains between noon and October 21 to take children from Berlin to safer areas, especially eastern Germany.

Today's "invasion weather" Seas calm in Strait of Dover; week-long mist began to lift under bright sun.

Last night, Prime Minister Winston Churchill broadcast an appeal to France: "If you cannot help us at least you will not hinder us in beating the life out of Hitler."

Churchill argued Britain intended to share her expected victory over Germany with France, while Germany sought to overthrow the French nation.

Tokyo diplomatic circles gave credence to a report that negotiations would be conducted between Japan and Soviet Russia to supplement the Japanese-German-Italian alliance would be based upon a plan to partition the northwest territories of China to create buffer states between them.

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

LITTLE BEAVER'S BORED

(Continued from First Page)

down, when the British cruiser "entering within range of action, of naval coast defense batteries was quickly caught in effective fire."

The communique said the cruiser, badly hit, was "forced to retreat slowly" and was later seen stopped off the coast in "in serious difficulties while other English warships hastened to her aid."

Low-lying fog over London and "ceiling zero" mist over German bomber bases across the channel hampered overnight raiding forays, but Nazi warplanes resumed the attack on London shortly after noon today.

From the high chalk cliffs of Dover and German emplacements in France, long-range guns thundered in a duel, hurling shell after shell across the narrow strait.

Despite the murky weather, the London air ministry reported RAF bombers violently bombed Germany's big naval dockyard at Hamburg starting many new fires in the port which has been a major target of attack by British airmen.

Another RAF raid attacked a German convoy off the French coast, the air ministry said, disabling at least one vessel. Other squadrons bombed wharves, warehouses and a ship at German-held Boulogne.

Still other objectives hit included a synthetic oil plant at Reisholz, a railroad yard at Dusseldorf, an airfield at Stade "and various industrial objectives."

London had one of its quietest nights in six weeks, although the German reported they might raiders had bombed the empire capital again, attacking Birmingham and Coventry, and started "exceptionally large fires at Liverpool."

Britain's 4,000,000 slept through a night without alarm, but Nazi officials sped preparations to remove children from the German capital. German railways planned to run 15 special trains between noon and October 21 to take children from Berlin to safer areas, especially eastern Germany.

Today's "invasion weather" Seas calm in Strait of Dover; week-long mist began to lift under bright sun.

Last night, Prime Minister Winston Churchill broadcast an appeal to France: "If you cannot help us at least you will not hinder us in beating the life out of Hitler."

Churchill argued Britain intended to share her expected victory over Germany with France, while Germany sought to overthrow the French nation.

Tokyo diplomatic circles gave credence to a report that negotiations would be conducted between Japan and Soviet Russia to supplement the Japanese-German-Italian alliance would be based upon a plan to partition the northwest territories of China to create buffer states between them.

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent, Mrs. Reilly said, "should consider her charges as pupils, not prisoners. She should encourage them to bring their problems to her; to take her into their confidence."

and when she is conscious of this it logically follows that she does it best."

Mrs. Reilly pictured "praise and reward" as "very expensive tools compared with the great dividend they pay in rehabilitation of women."

Many girls she said, "land in penal institutions because there was no guiding hand, no praise, no reward, no appreciation for their efforts to achieve."

She likened the ideal women's reformatory to a boarding school for girls, with the superintendent in the role of dean of women. The Ohio reformatory is much like that, with no walls or armed guards.

The superintendent

...continued by the same group under

1

DISTRICT LEGION MEETING HELD

Ruston Chosen As City Where Conference Will Convene

JONESBORO, Oct. 22.—(Special)—The hills of Jackson parish were invaded Sunday by hundreds of the Legion and their auxiliaries of the Fifth district, when they advanced upon Jonesboro, parish seat, in their regular fall conference. This marked the first conference held west of the Ouachita river.

The conference was called to order at 10:30 a.m. after the usual business and round table conference. Ladies of the auxiliary retired to the city hall for their private conference.

Principal speakers of the meeting were Chet Derveloy, department commander and Arden B. Smith, vice-commander. The theme of Derveloy's talk was based upon national defense preparedness, and un-American activities.

Commander Derveloy said that the fruits of 16 years labor of the American Legion are now being harvested in this. He said that the legion had advocated and struggled for a two ocean navy, an air force second to none, a standing regular army and a trained reserve army. He stated that the draft bill that was recently passed and that required the manpower of this nation to register for military service was one of the greatest steps taken towards the preservation of American independence and democracy.

He again stressed that the legion petition its congressmen and senators to give even greater aid to Great Britain. He told legion members to prepare themselves to meet any and all emergencies that may arise, that we are now "sitting on a powder keg" and that "the time is likely to be touched off at any time." He called their attention to certain religious groups advocating non-salute to the American flag. He said that these organizations should be watched as they are the ideal cloak of the enemies of the American government to hide themselves under.

Vice-commander Arden B. Smith, chairman of membership, reported that the membership drive was progressing as well as can be expected, and told the members that at this time they needed the American Legion and the legion needed them more than ever and that "we must stand united together and back our government to the last degree."

At 2:30 p.m. the legion members formed outside the courthouse in parade led by the Catron-Kelly post colors and military escort from Oak Grove, followed by the Bayville drum and bugle corps. They marched to the city hall, where they were joined by auxiliary members and marched through the crowded streets to the legion home, where a feed bag of barbecue was enjoyed.

Ruston was selected as place of the spring conference.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

The MOON'S SURFACE AREA IS ABOUT FOUR TIMES THAT OF EUROPE, OR MORE THAN FOURTEEN MILLION SQUARE MILES.

WHAT ANIMAL STEPS ON A FROG EVERY TIME IT SETS DOWN ITS FEET?

ANSWER: A horse, for on the bottom of each foot he has a triangular, elastic, horny pad, which is called a frog.

Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1. Knight officer in charge of provender
7. Oriental dish—French
13. Vegetable
14. Vexatious
15. Pertaining to
16. Part of a shoe
17. Years apart
18. Surname
19. August bird
20. Group of people
21. French nation
22. Southern state
23. French city
24. German city
25. Any of various birds
26. Braille
27. Thereafter
28. Musical sounds
29. Greek letter
30. Trade or bit
31. French language
32. French word
33. Second smallest planet
34. French word
35. Black spore
36. French word
37. French word
38. French word
39. French word
40. French word
41. French word
42. French word
43. French word
44. French word
45. French word
46. French word
47. French word
48. French word
49. French word
50. French word
51. French word
52. French word
53. French word
54. French word
55. French word
56. French word
57. French word
58. French word
59. French word
60. French word

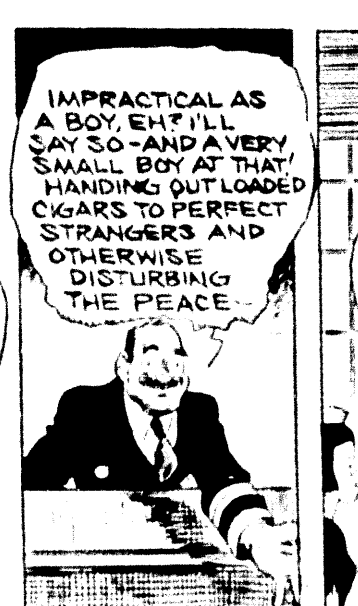

DOWN
1. Oriental
2. French word
3. French word
4. French word
5. French word
6. French word
7. French word
8. French word
9. French word
10. French word
11. French word
12. French word
13. French word
14. French word
15. French word
16. French word
17. French word
18. French word
19. French word
20. French word
21. French word
22. French word
23. French word
24. French word
25. French word
26. French word
27. French word
28. French word
29. French word
30. French word
31. French word
32. French word
33. French word
34. French word
35. French word
36. French word
37. French word
38. French word
39. French word
40. French word
41. French word
42. French word
43. French word
44. French word
45. French word
46. French word
47. French word
48. French word
49. French word
50. French word
51. French word
52. French word
53. French word
54. French word
55. French word
56. French word
57. French word
58. French word
59. French word
60. French word

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle
1. Interruption
2. Interruption
3. Interruption
4. Interruption
5. Interruption
6. Interruption
7. Interruption
8. Interruption
9. Interruption
10. Interruption
11. Interruption
12. Interruption
13. Interruption
14. Interruption
15. Interruption
16. Interruption
17. Interruption
18. Interruption
19. Interruption
20. Interruption
21. Interruption
22. Interruption
23. Interruption
24. Interruption
25. Interruption
26. Interruption
27. Interruption
28. Interruption
29. Interruption
30. Interruption
31. Interruption
32. Interruption
33. Interruption
34. Interruption
35. Interruption
36. Interruption
37. Interruption
38. Interruption
39. Interruption
40. Interruption
41. Interruption
42. Interruption
43. Interruption
44. Interruption
45. Interruption
46. Interruption
47. Interruption
48. Interruption
49. Interruption
50. Interruption
51. Interruption
52. Interruption
53. Interruption
54. Interruption
55. Interruption
56. Interruption
57. Interruption
58. Interruption
59. Interruption
60. Interruption

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE

THE GUMPS

THE NEBBIS

TARZAN

FOOLHARDY GIRL

MOON MULLINS

ANYWAY IT'S ONLY FLAT ON THE BOTTOM

Pause... Refresh

COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY
MONROE, LA. PHONE 181

MOPSY

OUT OUR WAY

—By Williams

ALLEY OOP

DOC MAKES PROGRESS

WHY MY DEAR

WHY MY DEAR

TWO CANDIDATES PLAN ACTIVITIES

Willie In Chicago Area; F. D. R. To Visit In Two States

(By Associated Press)
While Wendell L. Willkie returned to the Chicago area today for his second campaign appearance, President Roosevelt arranged to visit Wilmington, Del., and Camden, N. J., tomorrow prior to his address in Philadelphia.

In a speech in Milwaukee Monday night, Willkie accused the president of letting Chicago's Democratic organization and two others "try to steal the election for him without even a rebuke."

He referred to Democratic organizations in Jersey City, N. J., and in the Bronx, N. Y., as well as to that in Chicago and said:

"Here is a candidate for president who has proclaimed himself as a liberal, as a reform candidate, but who allows three of the most corrupt political machines to try to steal the election for him without even a rebuke to them."

Mr. Roosevelt's itinerary was announced by the Democratic national committee in New York. He will leave Washington by train and make a platform appearance at Wilmington. After reaching Philadelphia he will go by automobile to Camden to inspect the Cramp shipyard and then to Philadelphia to speak in the Convention hall, Philadelphia.

With the election only two weeks away, speakers for both major parties were heard in many cities Monday night.

Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, told an audience at Mason City, Ind., that "the eastern financial interests do control the majority of Republican votes in congress and they will consent to no effective farm program, no matter what promises the candidates make."

Senator Vandenberg, Republican Michigan, said at Logansport, Ind., that the government "has been run as a better-skilled, pell-mell, political grab bag to suit the shifting whims of one so-called 'indispensable man' and to feed the greatest political bureaucracy that ever fastened itself on an otherwise free people."

Mayor LaGuardia of New York declared in Detroit that the record of Willkie's relations with his own employees proved that Willkie "cannot be trusted with the social security of 50,000,000 men and women."

Joseph W. Martin, Republican national chairman, asserted in Fall River, Mass., that the United States "will not tolerate any fifth column," and charged "there are even some persons in the government connected with it—and they must be driven out."

In Washington, word that John L. Lewis, C. I. O. president, would make a radio address Friday night caused considerable speculation. Lewis has been silent on the presidential campaign since the nominating conventions and refused to comment on speculation that he might endorse one of the candidates.

Prior to the conventions, Lewis criticized the Democratic administration and predicted an "ignominious defeat" for Mr. Roosevelt if he were nominated for a third term.

His intention to speak Friday night was learned at his office where it was said the address would be carried by two or three radio networks from 8 until 8:30 o'clock (CST).

WORK WEEK CUT THIS THURSDAY

Maximum Of 40 Hours To Become Effective Under Provision

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Workers covered by the wage-hour law will have a maximum work week of 40 hours, with time-and-a-half for overtime, effective Thursday.

The reduction from the present 42-hour week applies only to those engaged in interstate commerce.

When the law was enacted in 1938 it called for an approach to the 40-hour week maximum on a graduated basis of 44 hours the first year, 42 hours the second, and 40 thereafter.

The minimum wage started at 25 cents an hour and went to 30 cents in 1939, where it remains until 1945, when it changes to 40.

The change this week probably will have little effect on most of the nation's workers, labor economists said, with the possible exception of the distributive trades and a few other lines.

The labor department reported in July that the average work week in manufacturing industries was 37.3 hours.

Employees in defense industries working on government contracts are working on a 42-hour week for the most part, economists say, because it is prescribed by the Walsh-Healey public contracts law.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Oct. 22, 1915—Heavy fighting breaks out between French and Bulgarian forces.

THREE BROTHERS ENLIST HERE

Jim Nolan, right, of St. Louis, has just finished three studies here for the navy. Earl, center, and Rudy, left, are in training here. The Nolan boys graduated from Lincoln High School. Mr. and Mrs. Nolan were married on August 1, 1940.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

A recent expansion of British Premier Churchill's public face in his appeal to France and the world for aid in the fight against Germany, the possibility of France withdrawing from the war on the side of the axis, is the first event in the first week of the war.

Consistent with the British appeal from Southampton, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain, British prime minister, have the French government with their able former ally, France, and the French government with their able former ally, France, and the French government with their able former ally, France.

Churchill's speech, reported by the London Times, was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

It seemed to me that Churchill's speech was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and it was a masterpiece of statesmanship.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

When the premier went to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France, and to the great extremes of asking the German government to withdraw its troops from the frontiers of France.

IBA PRESIDENT ACCUSES FRANK

Misrepresents Bankers' Attitude Toward SEC, Connolly Says

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The president of the International Bankers Association today accused the Federal Reserve Board of misrepresenting the attitude of bankers toward the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Connolly said the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

He said the bankers were "friendly" to the SEC, and that the board had been "misleading" in its statements that the bankers were "opposed" to the SEC.

BILLIONS GOING FOR ARMY ARMS

2,000,000 Men Being Supplied For Defense Of United States

(EDITOR'S NOTE: With hundreds of thousands of men going into training, the manufacture of arms and other equipment is being rushed throughout the country. It is a stupendous task Germany and Britain required four years to train. The United States hopes to do it within two years. The following is the second of six outstanding daily articles dealing with the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.)

By W. B. Ragsdale
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(AP)—General, I must remind you that we are not in a hurry.

That was the shot with which Major General C. M. Wesson, chief of the army ordnance department, broke the back of a question here in the House appropriations committee today in July. And the general spoke from a deep knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation.

He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

The general was not alone in his knowledge of the arms and ammunition supply situation. He had just finished sketching some of the ordnance needs and, especially, the need for the training of the new army and other phases of our defense program. Battle of London plans for defending American cities.

swung into action when the need arises.